

Through-spindle coolant option is very effective for clearing chips while boring, grooving or threading id holes.

Coolant is pumped through precision rotary union into drawtube to collet.

